GILBERT'S GREAT GRANDPARENTS - p. 21

THE SCHROERLUCKES GENEALOGICAL DATA

JANUARY 1990

BY

GILBERT SCHROERLUCKE

FORWARD

As a youngster, like most, I had little interest in family history. As I grew older my interest in history intensified. Reading the book, "Roots" and seeing the TV episodes sparked my interest. I had remembered some things my father had told me about our forefathers. He had said some brothers (I believe he said four) had come to America from Holland. On one occasion, in the latter years of his life, he gave me by memory the names of his grandfather, William, and all of his children and grandchildren. He did the same for Coonrod (That was the only name he knew him by). I have discovered Coonrod to be Adam. I wrote these names down on an envelope and am amazed, today, to see how accurate his memory was. This was the extent of my knowledge until I began my own investigation.

My sister, Mildred Ballard, a few years ago began gathering genealogical data on the Schroerluckes but because of ill health had to give up the pursuit. After I began my research, she turned her material over to me and it has been extremely helpful.

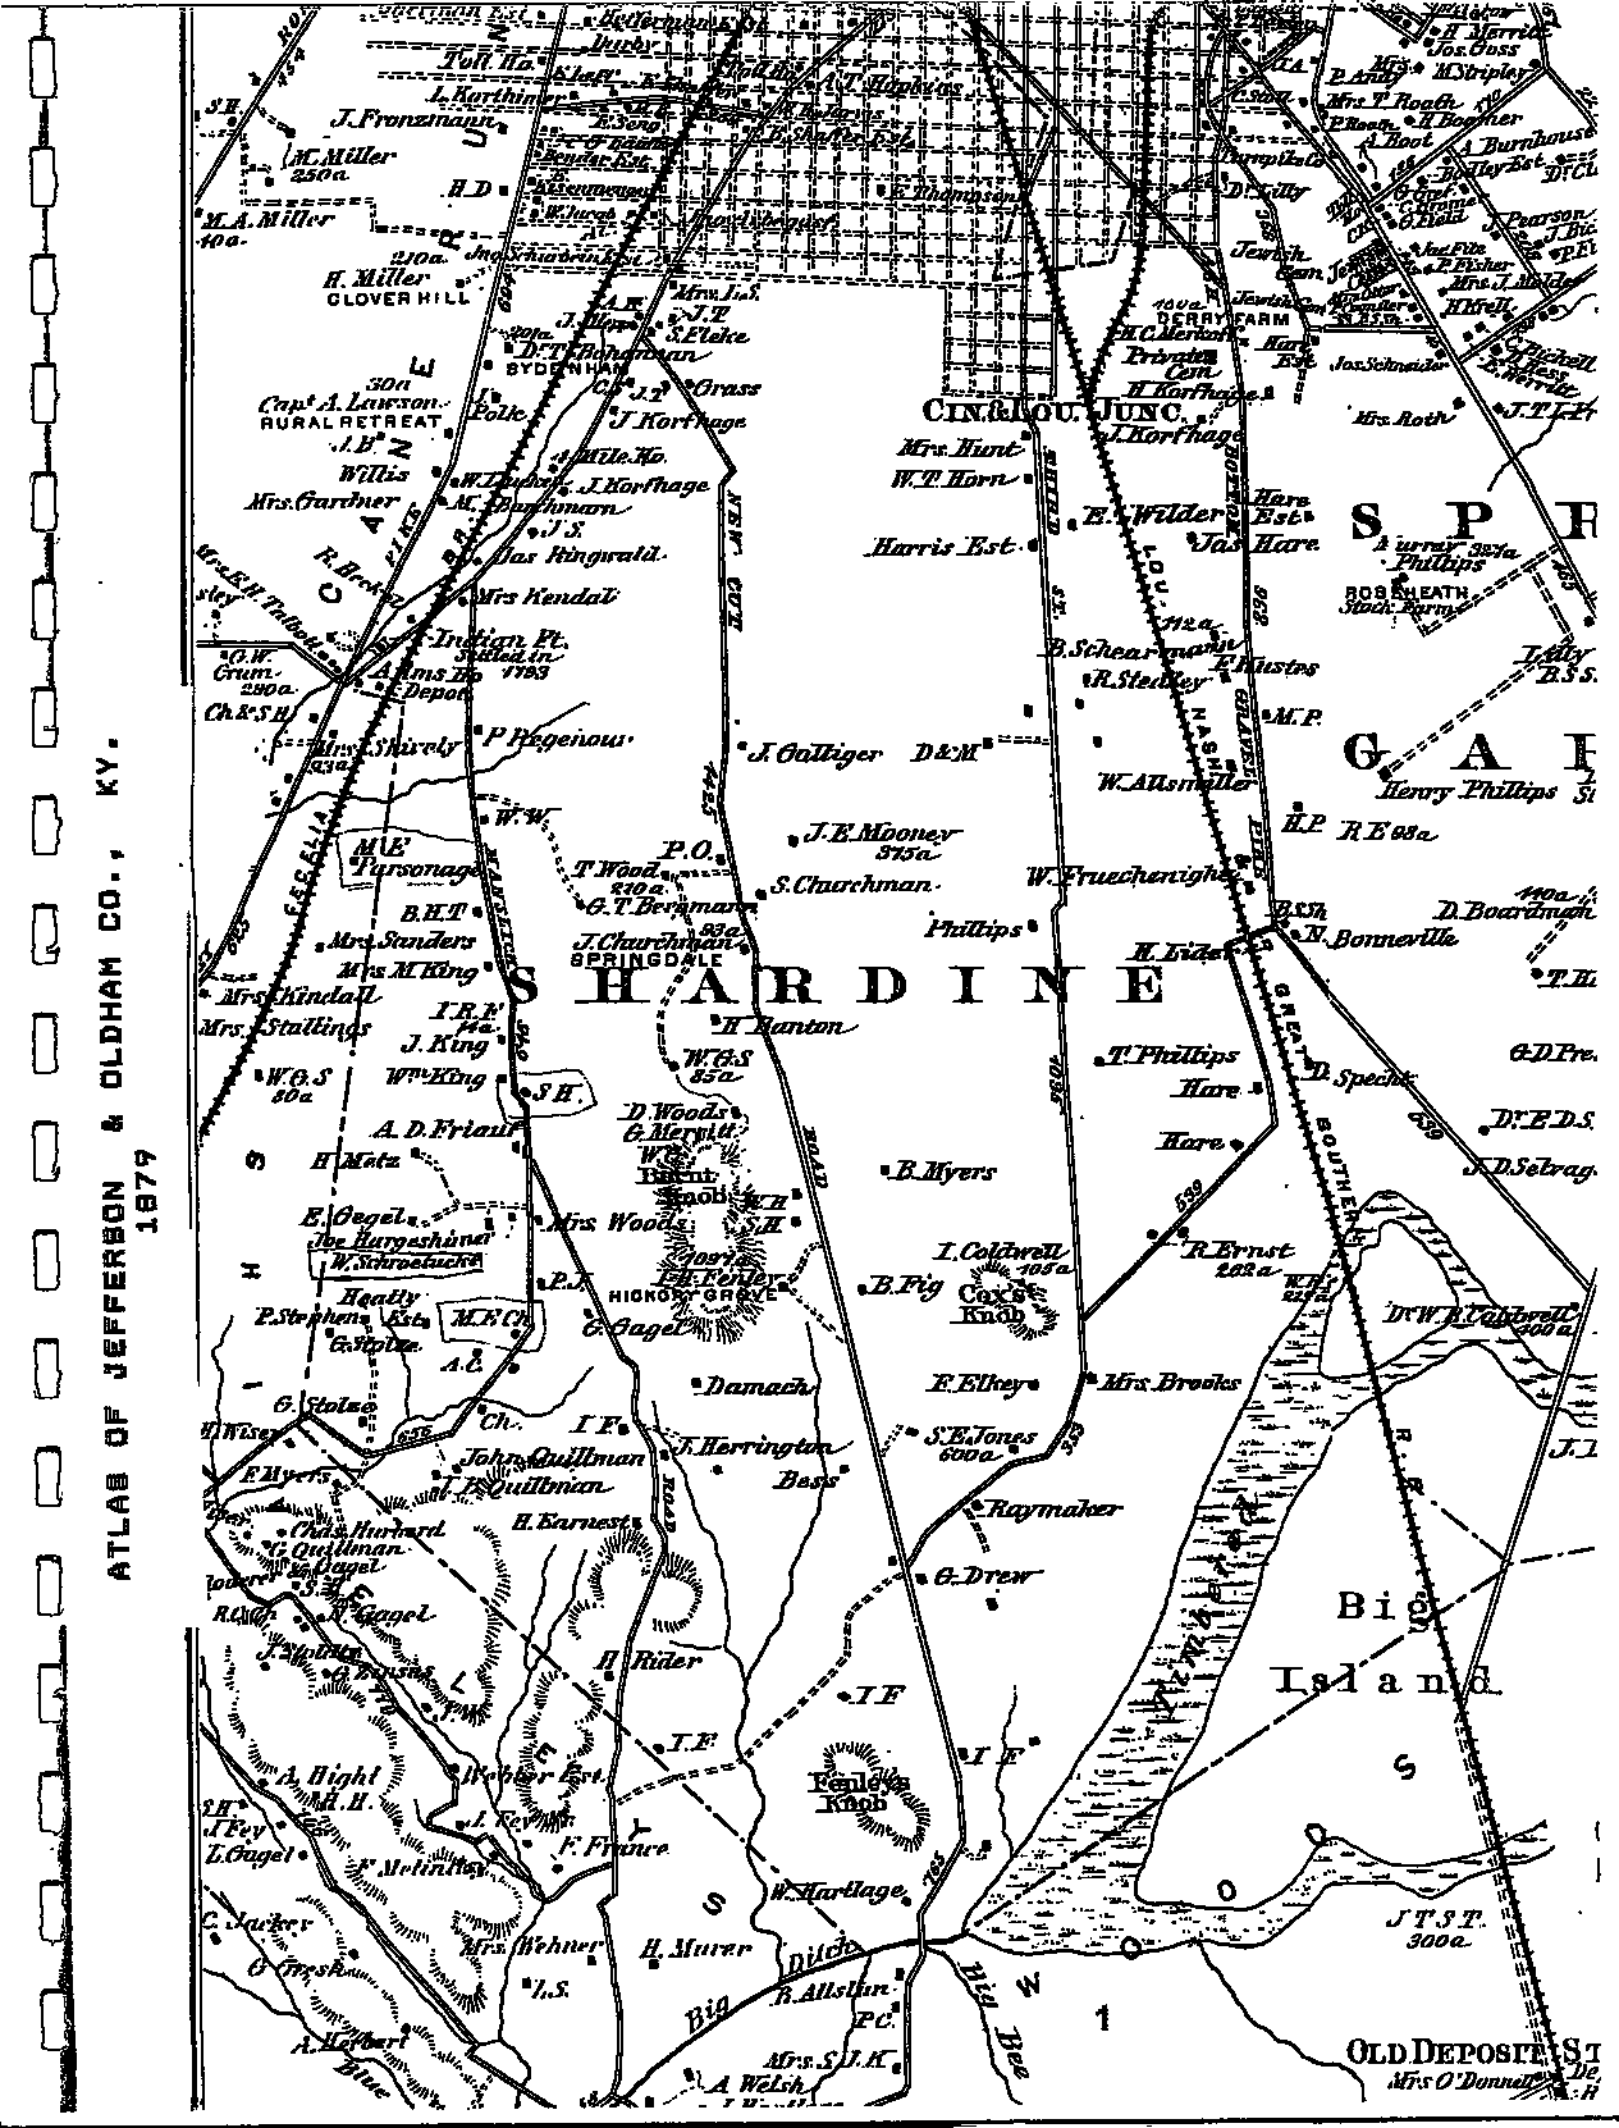

This document is the result of my attempt to gather together as much genealogical data on the "original" Schroerluckes and their descendants as I could. I have listed that data as I found it. Not all of the data is consistent. There are some variations in dates, especially. I have not tried to solve all of these discrepencies. I have tried to make as few judgments as possible regarding which particular specific information is "correct." Sometimes, members of families will believe certain information which the record may not bear out. My father's belief that Holland was the homeland of the original immigrants is a case in point. I grew up believing this. Now, I realize that the record states they came from Ladbergen, (a few miles north of Munster) Westphalia,(similiar to a county) Prussia which is present day Germany.

I have spent hundreds of hours on this project, a goodly part of this time sifting through rolls and rolls of micro-film at the public library. This is a monotonous and tiring experience but I hope this document will prove worth the effort. I stopped at 1959 in recording the data from the Louisville City Directories. There is no particular reason for stopping at 1959 except the limitation of time and energy.) I have had valuable help from individuals who are a part of the Schroerlucke history and I thank them.

I look upon this document as a first step. I would be willing to update and correct this record and be willing to work toward a second edition which would be more complete and accurate, if interest would merit it. This document is in my computer and can be changed easily. If you would like to help or have information that would improve this document, I would be glad to have it.

Pictures have come from a variety of sources. Their reproduction here is done by simply copying them on a copy machine. This accounts for the low quality but to do otherwise would be cost prohibitive.

SCHROERLUCKE SPELLING

On several different occasions, I have been asked about the correct spelling of our name. There is no simple answer to this since the correct spelling of anyone's name is the way they spell it. I have discovered in my research several variations of spelling, especially, during the early years of our forefathers in this country. This was due, probably, to the way English speaking persons taking down information heard the name pronounced. Just plain sloppy record keeping could have been a factor, also. It is obvious that after a period of time, the spelling, S C H R O E R L U C K E, became almost universal.

The following is a list of the different ways I have discovered the name spelled:

Schwerleicke
Schroeloker
Schroelicke
Schoorluck
Scheirluker
Shilloker
Schrollcke
Schrorluke
Schrolucke
Schrorlicke
Schroluker
Schroerlucker

GERMAN INFLUX

The following is an excerp from History of the Ohio Falls Counties dated 1882 and refers to the Shardine Precinct where William settled: "The once marshy boggy lands being afterwards taken up by the thrifty, well to do German population who now have highly cultivated farms and live in a flourishing condition. They have settled in this portion of the county quite recently, comparatively, and will in course of time have their lands all drained and their farms fertile and rich."

UNIDENTIFIED PERSONS

I have been unable to identify the family relationship of the following. Any help anyone could give in this matter would be appreciated.

KINGS SCHOOL

I've included this picture of Kings School to recall a bit of history. This school stood at the intersection of Hazelwood Ave. and Manslick Road. I remember it still being there when I was a youngster growing up though it had long since ceased being used as a school. My father once told me that he went to school in this building as a small boy and that the children used slate and chalk instead of pencils and paper on which to do their work. I imagine that all the early Schroerlucke children who lived in this community attended school here.
